Before: After

Wellspring hired us to articulate their brand message and update their logo. We also helped them with their messaging and frame their guest stories with new printed materials and icons. While the new logo is in keeping with the original one, the new one introduces vitality and represents a symbiotic relationship. The tree provides shelter (which pays homage to the origins of Wellspring) while the bird represents opportunity for growth and change. Together with the fruit, there is a thriving environment in which each element is vital to the overall success of the community. One cannot exist without the other. The colors are natural, optimistic and positive while the fonts provide a unique look and feel to the brand.

The logo mark was then introduced at their Annual luncheon with an invitation, table cards and stage banners. Communications, Ink then designed stationery, Annual Fund mailing with custom icons, newsletter, business cards and name badges, and a refreshed design for their website. We also helped them introduce the new branding and messaging to their internal audience with a brand launch event.

WELLSPRING COLORS

Color is a powerful and memorable component of the Wellspring brand. The specific palette was created to work together and reinforce the brand. It's natural and organic but also optimistic and positive.
